

Antamex

MANY PRODUCTS, ONE ROOF. Ideally-situated between Keele Street and the 407 is the tailor-made home of OldCastle Building Envelope Canada. In the beginning, this project grew from a strong relationship with Antamex International (before they were acquired by OldCastle), but by the end our team had created a unique space which provided much-needed room for the company to grow.

While this 128,000 sf head office had to provide the ideal location and space for the future of this growing company, it also needed to showcase their products for potential clients. Our development team worked with our long-time partner to make sure that the plans for the new space reflected exactly what the panel and curtain wall manufacturer had in mind.

Applying the same principles as we do on every project we take on collaboratively, First Gulf and Antamex worked together to create a high-end industrial space that was not only worthy of their show room full of highly-detailed curtain wall systems, but also their corporate culture.
